UN Police Delayed

Shaky Mid-East Truce Threatens to Fall Apart

Arabs Step Up Suicide Attacks

LONDON (UP)—The shaky Middle East truce was threatening to fall apart last night.

MIG jets.

Arrival of a 6,000-man United Nations police force in Egypt to keep the peace was delayed for "technical reasons."

UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld postponed for 24 hours a scheduled flight from New York to Rome for conferences on the Middle East police force operation.

Britain and France hinted they might reject Egypt's conditions for accepting the police force on its soil.

Israel reported stepped up "Fedayeen" (Arab suicide commando) raids during the last 24 hours.

Iraq demanded liquidation of Israel.

Military leaders at Anglo-French headquarters on Cyprus voiced fear of a "sneak" attack from Syria where Russia has shipped quantities of British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd told Commons Britain was "deeply disturbed" both by the Soviet threat to send "volunteers" to Egypt and by the extent of Soviet penetration in the Middle East.

He said this was the trick the Reds used in Greece and Korea to continue the fighting and that "infiltration" in Egypt would be a follow-up to "large imports of Soviet war material into Egypt since the beginning of the year and into Syria."

China Adds Voice

TOKYO (UP)—Red China accused the United States yesterday of using the Anglo-French attack on Egypt as a device to further its own ambitions for control of the Arab state.

A Peiping propaganda broadcast also repeated the Communist threat to send "fighting volunteers" to Egypt.

Egypt Trip Put Off

UN Chief Offers To Accompany Aid to Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld disclosed Tuesday night that he has approached Hungarian authorities with a proposal that he personally shepherd United Nations relief supplies into Budapest.

Hammarskjöld, after postponing a Middle East trip for 24 hours, talked Monday night with Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath on means of speeding UN supplies and representatives to the country. A UN official said he hopes to see Horvath again when the ambassador receives instructions from his government.

There was speculation that more than the Hungarian problem delayed Hammarskjöld's trip to Cairo. The possibility was seen that there had been a hitch in plans for the UN police force to move to the Middle East.

Hammarskjöld was to have left for Cairo Tuesday to supervise the movement into Egypt of the police force. Shortly before his scheduled departure a 24-hour postponement was announced. A UN spokesman said this was due to a message from the Hungarian government saying it was prepared to meet UN representatives to discuss the "best means of providing the UN assistance."

Later, however, a spokesman

KITCHENER, Ont. (UP)—Canadian university faculty members are not Christian nor intellectually stimulating, the biennial meeting of the Canadian Council of Churches was told yesterday.

The statement was made in a 21-page report by the Student Christian Movement, which called for a halt to "gross religious illiteracy spreading through campuses."

'Torch' Fire Victim Dies at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Mrs. Josephine Wise of Cedar, critically injured in a gasoline explosion in a car Friday night, died in Nanaimo General Hospital at 9:15 last night.

Her husband and brother, Andy Wesley, were also injured in the mishap, when a can of white gasoline exploded in the back seat turning the woman into a human torch.

School Goes On

Prince Charles Is Eight Today

or at one of Britain's leading public schools.

Some British newspapers have predicted that a decision is imminent, but palace circles say this is "pure speculation." A possibility is that a decision will come late next spring, in time for the start of the summer term.

The Queen is believed to have a slight preference for private tutoring, which she had herself, while her husband advocates the same sort of public school education he enjoyed.

The young prince has inherited the Duke's interest in everything mechanical and the two spend considerable time together playing with Prince Charles' fine collection of clockwork-powered toys.

Prince Charles likes playing in London parks with his Corgi dogs and visiting places of historical interest. Like any other youngster he enjoys spending his own pocket money—always a modest amount.

Twice a week he leaves the palace for gym classes, usually bringing a classmate home for tea.

Through his gym classes, he is widening his circle of friends, most of whom, until now, have been the sons and daughters of childhood friends and relatives of his parents.

People visiting the palace on official business often hear a sudden scampering and clatter of feet as the prince and princess race past on their way to the garden. A favorite game: cowboys and Indians.

Bargaining Rumored

Defiant Hungarians Spurn Work Appeals

BUDAPEST (Reuters)—Defiant Hungarians spurned government appeals to return to work Tuesday amid rumors of top-level political bargaining behind the scenes.

The guns were silent in Budapest Tuesday, but the island of Csepel, a huge industrial centre not far from the Hungarian capital, was reported still in the hands of the Hungarian nationalists who said they would blow it up rather than surrender. And messages reaching here said small bands of nationalists were still fighting Soviet troops in various parts of the country.

JUST FOR WAGES

Many workers went back to their factories Tuesday morning—but only to draw their wages and pass resolutions demanding the withdrawal of Russian troops, reinstatement of the deposed prime minister, Imre Nagy, and free elections.

Reports reached Vienna that workers in northeastern Hungary blew up a railway line Monday, stopped a train and freed a load of prisoners being deported to Russia.

SUPPLIES ARRIVE

Shipment of 60 tons of food and medicine by the International Red Cross arrived from Vienna. Budapest hospitals got the medicine and the food was distributed in districts which suffered the most during the revolution.

The Hungarian Red Cross sent a message to the international organization saying relief shipments would be accepted on "every border."

Nagy, who is believed to have sought refuge in the Yugoslav Embassy here when the Russians launched their all-out attack on the capital nine days ago, is seen as a key figure in the situation.

Informed sources said here Tuesday negotiations are continuing between puppet premier János Kádár and Nagy. Other political leaders, including Social Democrats and the Peasant party and the Smallholders party, also are being sought out in a bid for a compromise solution.

The aim of these talks, it is believed, is the formation of a government with sufficient popular support to get the country back to work.

DENY RUSSIAN ARRIVALS

Sources close to the Kádár government, however, described the political manoeuvring as "only feigning" and rejected the widely circulating reports that a number of Soviet leaders have arrived to negotiate with the Hungarians.

The reports were given considerable credence in Western diplomatic circles.

Help Swelling For Magyars

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Poland reported to the United Nations Tuesday the largest cash donation thus far for the aid of Hungary—$2,000,000.

The UN listed $1,000,000 from the United States for aid to Hungarian refugees. In all, nine nations offered a total of $3,762,500, plus food and other items.

The report said eight nations have agreed to accept 20,500 Hungarian refugees and three others have invited an indefinite number.

Poppy Fund Stolen? Alberni Can't Tell

ALBERNI—Tight-lipped police today were pressing an investigation into the breaking and entering of the Alberni Legion Hall.

Safecrackers battered and jammed the clubroom safe which contained the poppy fund of the Alberni Valley. Until an expert arrives to open the safe, no one knows whether or not the yeggs escaped with the proceeds from the "successful" sale of poppies or if the money is still inside.

Canadian Way Would Win For Stevenson

NEW YORK (CP)—If the United States election had been held under Canadian parliamentary rules, President Eisenhower would have been defeated by Adlai Stevenson.

And if the last Canadian election had been run off under the U.S. system, the morning papers on Aug. 11, 1953, would have carried a table looking like this:

PRIME MINISTER

Louis St. Laurent (L) 321 electoral votes.
M. J. Coldwell (CCF) 23.
Solon Low (SC) 23.
George Drew (PC) 0.

Under parliamentary rules, the U.S. election would have been decided by party representation in the House of Representatives—the American equivalent of the House of Commons. Since the Democrats won the majority of House seats, Stevenson, as their party leader, would have been the new head of the government.

GEORGE DREW
... Frozen Out

Separate Ballots

Under the U.S. electoral system, Canadian voters would have marked not one but two ballots on election day. Besides voting for a member of Parliament in their constituency, they would have had a choice among the various party leaders for prime minister.

While MPs would be elected in the normal manner, the prime minister would be chosen on the basis of electoral votes, apportioned to the provinces on the basis of the number of representatives each sends. Ottawa, the candidate getting the largest popular vote in a province would get its entire electoral tally.

Since the Liberals drew the most votes in eight provinces in 1953, Prime Minister St. Laurent would have coasted home. In Saskatchewan, where the CCF predominated, Coldwell would have collected 23 votes, since that province sends 17 MPs and six senators to Ottawa.

In Alberta, where Social Credit topped the popular poll, a similar provincial allotment of MPs and senators would have brought Low his 23 votes.

Neither the theoretical Canadian nor the actual American result bears much resemblance to the over-all popular vote percentages.

Bigger Share

Eisenhower, drawing approximately 58 per cent of the ballots cast, got nearly 90 per cent of the electoral tally. The equally overwhelming St. Laurent electoral vote would have been based on the Liberals' 1953 share of 48 per cent of the ballots. Despite the Conservatives' second-high popular vote total of 30 per cent, Drew would have been shut out since his party failed to carry a province.

The framers of both electoral systems were in agreement on one basic point—that an election based strictly on the proportion of the popular vote would lead to unstable government.

In 1953, for example, if the Liberals had received only the 48 per cent of the Commons seats to which their popular vote entitled them, they would have been forced into a coalition with another party to command a majority. Similarly, President Truman got less than 50 per cent of the U.S. vote in 1948 and would have had to turn either to Republican Thomas E. Dewey or to one of two minor-party candidates for support.

ADLAI STEVENSON
... could have won

Endorses 51 Products

Elvis Cashing In!

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Elvis Presley is rocking the merchandising world with as much impact as he rocks 'n' rolls the bobby-sox set.

The 21-year-old ex-truck driver has endorsed 51 products which his business agent predicts will gross more than $20,000,000 this year—a boom that would dwarf the Davy Crockett craze.

Henry Saperstein, Presley's business agent, said "Elvis' picture and signature will be on everything from cosmetics to clothing to diaries."

"The Elvis Presley line of lipsticks are named after the titles of his songs," Saperstein said. "There's 'hound dog orange,' 'heartbreak pink,' 'love ya tushie' and 'cruel red.'"

"He also endorses cologne and 'Presley press down'—a pomade for kids with unruly hair."

Saperstein said textile mills were working overtime to produce scarves, handkerchiefs, T-shirts, blouses, sweaters, blue jeans, bobby sox and pajamas—all bearing a likeness of the sleepy-eyed singer along with his autograph.

"They wanted to make panties and bras with Elvis' picture on them, but we nixed the idea," Saperstein said. "We have to be careful not to offend anyone. None of these items go on the market without a personal okay from Elvis."

The best seller is Presley shoes, canvas sneakers and loafers.

Saperstein said, "My firm handled merchandising for the Lone Ranger, Lassie, Ding Dong School and Wyatt Earp. All of them put together can't compare with Elvis."

"And we wouldn't be doing all this merchandising if we didn't think he was going to be around for a long, long time."

Even the food and drink market is being invaded. This winter will see the advent of Elvis Presley hot dogs and soft drinks. In the spring an entire line of swimming apparel will appear.

Killing Frost Expected Soon

By M. V. CHESNUT, F.R.S.

I am very glad to see that so many of the newcomers to Vancouver Island are beginning to get the hang of keeping their vegetable plots in production all the year around. True, it can be discouraging to see all our spring cabbage and broccoli and Brussels sprouts killed off by a sudden and unseasonable frost, as happened last year, but even Texas and Arizona get caught out in this way occasionally.

The average date of the first killing frost here is Nov. 18, so it is a wise precaution to start gathering bracken, straw, fir boughs and the like to strewn over the more tender winter vegetables when the weather forecasts indicate a temperature of 29 degrees or lower. Such protection should only stay on through the coldest spells, and should be removed when milder weather returns.

Late cauliflower and broccoli will need a little protection when frost comes. One stunt I have used for many years now is to clip a couple of the outer leaves over the curd with an ordinary spring clothes peg. This shading of the curd helps quite a lot, as the protection required is not so much against the frost as against bright sunshine following a frosty night.

You can provide some further protection by heeling the plants over towards the north. First, take out a spadeful of soil on the north side of each plant, then press the plant over in that direction with your foot and deposit the spadeful of soil over the base of the stem to hold it in its slanting position.

If savoy and cabbages are treated in the same manner, it will prevent them from bursting, which is often caused by the action of frost followed by bright sunshine before they have thawed out.

Kale is one of the best winter greens, but one common mistake is to start using it too soon, for the stuff never is at its best until it has been touched by frost, the effect of which is to make it more tender and palatable.

KALE DISAPPOINTING

Some folks have found kale disappointing because they didn't pick it correctly. It is no good trying to use the large, outer leaves, as these are always tough, stringy and bitter even after prolonged cooking. When you start cutting kale for the table, take only the centres of the plants, and only as much as you need for the one meal. Cut them the same day they are to be cooked—they become limp and flavorless if left lying around too long—and if they should happen to be frozen, thaw them slowly in cold water before cooking.

SIDE SHOOTS FORM

Cutting out the centres of the kale plants in this way will cause young side shoots to form in the axils of the rough leaves, and in due course these, too, may be cut, thus prolonging the productive life of the plant and providing a long season of delicious and tender greens.

With Brussels sprouts, it is a great mistake to fill your basket by cutting all the rosettes off one plant before moving on to the next. It is best to go down the line removing only the lower sprouts from all the plants, thereby keeping the plants in full production over a long period of time. This vegetable, too, is much improved by a hard frost.

Pow-Wow On Indians In Camera

First sessions of a three-day pow-wow of the provincial advisory committee on Indian affairs were held behind closed doors here yesterday.

The day was devoted to reports from members on activities during the past year.

Today will be taken up by a discussion on "Indians and Crime—after-care, rehabilitation and prevention." The problem will be discussed by W. T. Teal, warden of the Kamloops Jail. Miss M. Wright, probation officer in Vancouver, A. L. Langdale, probation officer in Abbotsford, and Miss B. E. Maybee, matron of the women's division of Oakalla.

Vancouver Indian agency superintendent F. E. Anfield will also address the meeting on the problem and describe what work is being done by the federal government Indian affairs branch to assist Indians who are committed to provincial jails.

A banquet will be held to-night at the Empress Hotel when W. J. Asselstine, MLA for Atlin, will be guest speaker. The committee will wind up its discussions on Thursday.

Contract Given

Foundation Company of Canada has been awarded the contract to build the $1,500,000 permanent Shakespearean festival theatre in Stratford, Ont.

The company will build the structure at a profit of a dollar and complete it in time for season opening next July 1.

National drive to raise the funds is nearing completion. Greater Victoria quota was set at $2,500 and was close to that figure at last report.

Negroes Batter Limbs

ATLANTA (UP) — Another leg-smashing protest against heavy work erupted at the state's rock quarry prison for incorrigibles, state corrections officials said yesterday.

Five Negro convicts battered their limbs with a 10-pound sledge hammer. Two succeeded in breaking bones. Three others were treated at the prison infirmary for flesh wounds.

Three months ago 41 convicts at the prison, at Buford, Ga., attempted to shatter their legs in a similar demonstration and most of them succeeded. Three of yesterday's participants were among the original 41. They failed in the first mutilation attempt and the same three were unsuccessful again.

Corrections department director Jack Forrester left immediately for an on-the-spot investigation.

SOLITARY

He said those involved would be put in solitary confinement for 30 days, the same penalty imposed on the 41 who participated in the earlier demonstrations. Forrester said all five "broke away from the line of the other prisoners and ran behind a pile of rocks."

"Before the foreman in charge could overtake them," he said, "they obtained a sledge hammer and Derrard broke one bone in his leg and Walker fractured his."

FAST MOVERS

Dolphins, among the speediest of fish, cover about 20 miles an hour compared to 10 miles for salmon.

Laing's Counsel Protests 'Muzzling'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Counsel for provincial Liberal leader Arthur Laing protested Tuesday against what he termed attempts to "muzzle discussion of public affairs."

Senator J. W. Farris appeared for Mr. Laing at the opening of a libel and slander suit brought against the party leader by Wade and Wells Co. Ltd., a road-building contractor.

The action, which continues today, is being heard in B.C. Supreme Court by an eight-man jury under Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker.

Col. C. C. Merritt, VC, acting for the contractors, said Mr. Laing committed slander when he wrote a letter March 15 about the Cassiar-Stewart highway in northern B.C. to Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who was then agriculture minister. The slander was repeated when Mr. Laing read the letter to party meetings March 16 and 21, Col. Merritt told the court.

IN TESTIMONY

Senator Farris objected when Col. Merritt said the defendant would have to show more than that he believed the statements in the letter were true, because they were presented in testimony before a legislative committee, but would also have to prove their truth by calling witnesses.

Senator Farris said that three government inspectors who testified before the legislative committee last February had "condemned" the Cassiar-Stewart highway.

"Is a public man, in pursuance of his duties, to be muzzled in his duties because he repeats what the records show in a privileged occasion?" Senator Farris asked. "It doesn't seem reasonable."

In reverent silence, 3,000 Greater Victoria citizens observed two minutes of inward prayer at the

Crisp, Fair Weather

Thousands Mourn Gallant War Dead

More than 4,000 persons attended memorial services for the war dead of Greater Victoria Sunday at cenotaphs and memorials throughout the district.

Remembrance Day was marked in crisp but fair fall weather, unlike the driving sleet and snow of one year ago, as veterans of three wars paraded to services for fallen comrades.

At the city cenotaph in front of the Legislative Buildings a silent crowd of 3,000 gathered to hear the main service at 11 a.m.

Marching units from the three armed services and veterans' organizations, cadets, Boy Scouts and bands paraded past the Government Street base where Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross took the salute.

Prayers at the cenotaph were led by Rev. E. W. MacQuarrie, Esquimalt garrison chaplain. Pipes of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) played the lament "Flowers of the Forest."

First wreath was placed by the lieutenant-governor. He was followed by a bereaved mother, Mrs. William Gibb, 4103 Shelbourne, whose wreath represented all the sons who died in service.

Lands and Forests Minister Ray-Williston represented the provincial government at the services. Other officials were Rev. William Allen, Greater Victoria Ministerial Association; Mayor Percy Scurrey; Col. R. B. Longridge, Canadian Legion zone commander; Commodore P. D. Budge, Lt. Col. J. C. Cave, Maj. J. L. McCulloch, FO H. J. Price, armed services; Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harrison, RCMP.

At the city services other municipalities were represented by Reeves Fred Norris, Oak Bay, and Arthur Ash, Saanich, with Coun. G. R. Sammon representing Esquimalt, which held services of its own at the same time.

The Esquimalt services were held at Memorial Park Cenotaph. The Canadian Legion-sponsored remembrance was conducted by Royal Roads chaplain Rev. J. C. McLean, RCYC. Capt. J. C. Osborne, RCN, took the salute and the guns were fired by the Esquimalt garrison artillery. Reeve Alfred Wurtie led a group of 18 wreath-layers in the ceremony.

After the city cenotaph service, members of the Canadian Scottish paraded to the Scottish Memorial in Pioneer Square for a brief service conducted by regimental chaplain Rev. J. L. W. McLean.

Wreaths were laid by Victoria and Vancouver regimental associations, Hon. Col. R. W. Mayhew, commanding officer Lt. Col. Jack Fawcett, Scottish Cadet Corps, regimental women's auxiliary, and special representatives of bereaved families.

In the afternoon, Rev. W. W. McPherson, Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn and Canon Francis Tomalin led the service at the Oak Bay war memorial for 200 citizens.

Patients at Veterans' Hospital attended an early service at 9:30 a.m. conducted by Padre Douglas Kendall.

Also Sunday afternoon was a service at Langford cenotaph, conducted under the auspices of Prince Edward Branch, Canadian Legion, by Padre H. Jones.

Liberace Laughs Last

'Below the Belt'

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Members of the upper classes were "insulting" and those nasty names the press called him were "below the belt," but Liberace figured he had the last laugh after his recent London tour by winding up with more fans instead of fewer.

Liberace — with George, Mama, teeth and all — arrived home after a tour of the British Isles.

"Some of the people, the upper crust, were absolutely insulting," Liberace said as he packed his bags for a Las Vegas appearance.

"And the protocol! They didn't want me to introduce my mother at the royal command performance. They said it was the Queen's night and I was not to talk about myself. They said, 'Oh, you Americans don't know any better...'"

"The press at first made me angry. I'm used to being kidded, but I didn't expect that below-the-belt stuff. However, the critics didn't express the attitude of the people."

The catastrophe turned into a "personal victory" when "my entire nine concerts were sold out. I was told I could play there two years."

"The English people were wonderful," he continued. "People here gave me the impression they were reserved. But they were more demonstrative than any American audience."

"We got thousands of fan letters. Every time I was blasted by the papers my reception was great. The crowds got larger when the press got nastier. Actually the write-ups increased my fan following."

"The welcome we got in various cities was unbelievable. In London I was a prisoner in my hotel. I couldn't go out anywhere. Even my mother had to have police protection."

London Times Supplement Lauds Canada

LONDON (CP) — The Times Tuesday devoted a special 16-page supplement to Canada — "this great trans-Atlantic kingdom."

In an editorial, the newspaper calls attention to its appearance at a time when Canada is "sleeping to the front by virtue of neither of her membership in the Commonwealth nor of her intimate association with the United States."

Canada, it says, is "in her own right second to none in international councils" if one excludes the "narrow group of great powers" recognized in the United Nations charter.

The first page includes a map of Canada, and an article on Canada's status in world affairs by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

Abdicating Its Role

THE committed contingents of the United Nations police force are converging as rapidly as possible on the Middle East. It will be several weeks yet however before the force is gathered in strength in the Suez area, a lapse of time which it is to be hoped does not prove fatal. With the Middle East at boiling point and talk of intruding Soviet Union "volunteers" the situation could deteriorate to hamstringing UN plans.

Other disquieting factors have appeared since the UN decided to send a police force to the Middle East. The force itself is shrinking. At first it was hoped its total strength would be around 10,000 men; it looks as though the UN will be lucky if half that number are counted. Apart from the sizable Canadian contribution the remainder seems to be composed of corporal's guards from half a dozen other nations. Over the large area involved this will not provide the kind of effective police action promised when the force was decided upon.

Even more disquieting, and certainly astonishing, is the development that causes the UN force to enter Egypt only by the grace and favor of the Egyptian government. This surely was never contemplated when the decision was taken by the UN to "intervene" and bring peace to the Middle East. Intervention means assertion of UN authority, not entry by leave of one of the belligerents.

If the latest reports are correct, in fact, the UN's authority and purpose have been watered down to suit the convenience of Egypt. An announced agreement on the matter says that the police force would be stationed where the Nasser government decides, also that it would withdraw when Egypt so orders. In substance therefore it would operate only as directed by Egypt, a situation that could be construed as a complete abdication of the force's role of intervention to bring about a permanent cease-fire and a lasting settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The British and French have promised to pull out of the Suez area once the UN police agency has taken over, although their protest at this watering down of original UN intention may compel revision of their pledge. But if they did pull out what happens after that? Supposing that Egypt then decided that the UN force should withdraw, as it might very easily do since this would leave everything as it was with Nasser again in the ascendant. Would the UN force depart quietly with its tail between its legs, frustrated by an agreement that seems preposterous?

New Building Blocks

IT is a strange world that the nuclear age has opened. From the apparently fundamental baseline of the hydrogen atom the minds of physicists have been led in ever-widening circles to a bewildering succession of changes, transmutations and transfers in what was once deemed to be the unbreakable field of the elements. Today it is becoming realized that there is little that is stable or unalterable in the new atomic field. Molecular physics no longer can cover the range of what men have observed.

While the practical application of the sudden opening of so many doors all at once may find its first large peaceful use in the development of industrial power from nuclear heat, there is no means of foretelling what may come from the vast and uncharted implications of all this new knowledge. In place of the single, and singular, elements, man is finding sets of twins and triplets to which he has given the provisional name of isotopes. One or even two dozen isotopes would not be confusing, but when Nature seemingly can start with the hydrogen atom and end almost anywhere else, the outlook is confusing.

Long ago speculative scientists laid aside the earlier conceptions of matter, mass, energy, motion, light, space and other things were followed in a new spirit of enquiry. Two world conflicts have interrupted the search, but in another sense also speeded it. The balance has not yet been struck, nor is it likely to be for a good many years to come. Even an incomplete inventory of what is new in the realm of physics would require the balance of the present century to compile.

It is no wonder that the world calls for engineers and physicists, the teams of the future which will be expected to dredge what is practical out of this flood of new facts and new theories. When Great Britain opened Calder Hall the other day she put "on stream" the first industrial nuclear furnace, and the prospect that this new source of energy will reinforce her coal measures vitally in the next few years has been the first important and forward-looking result. In physics, this is indeed "a new world."

Space and Readers' Opinions

PUBLIC concern in Victoria over the affairs of the world, the Commonwealth, the nation and the community has been reflected during the past week or so in an unusually heavy flood of letters to the editor. A single mail yesterday brought no fewer than 31 letters on a wide variety of subjects, and ranging in length from a few terse lines to effusions running to several pages of type-script. If all were published in their entirety there would be little room in the paper for anything else.

While these contributions are evidence of a healthy interest in current events, they impose an impossible demand on the available space, thus emphasizing the practical factor in the process of selection which must be applied. Although the phrase "freedom of the press" is commonly interpreted as the right to publish, there are times when it must be read by a newspaper as the right not to publish. Access to the space available for these letters is a privilege given freely within reasonable limits and without discrimination; but it is not a right, and discretion as to what shall appear therein must rest with the paper.

Letters which in our opinion are libellous, malicious, abusive, offensive to religious beliefs or morals, or of no public interest are always denied publication—along with those of authors who decline the use of their names. This newspaper does not reject letters simply because of disagreement with the views expressed. It accepts and publishes criticism of its own reports and opinions.

In the present circumstances space has become a governing consideration. It would be manifestly unfair for writers of concise, legible letters on important issues to have their views excluded in favor of someone who rambles on page after page about a subject which may be of limited interest. For that and other equally valid reasons it is inevitable that some letter-writers will be disappointed for the time being, either through abbreviation of their contributions or through not seeing them in print at all. For example, some subjects which have been amply canvassed already—such as the destruction of pets in the event of enemy attack—must be deemed to be closed, along with others in respect of which argument has become repetitious.

Interpreting the News

Poland Watching Hungary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

POLAND appears—at the moment—to be the big winner in the East European revolution against Soviet Russian domination.

The Soviet government has become so alarmed over the open rebellion in Hungary that it may yet move its army against the Poles. Poland has established a Titoist government and is proceeding with a combination of caution and boldness to get rid of its Russian "advisers."

If the Poles do get away with it, the credit must go to Polish Communist leader Wladislaw Gomulka.

Gomulka has tried energetically to keep the Polish revolt strictly on the Titoist level. That is, he has tried to keep the Polish movement a political one, to make Poland an independent Communist state with emphasis on the Communist label, and to give the Russians no excuse to intervene.

They used to call Gomulka Poland's Little Stalin. He is a hard-bitten, hard-core Communist, stocky, close-mouthed and tough. He is very lucky to be alive. He was sent to prison as a "diversionist" when Tito successfully rebelled against Josef Stalin's domination of Yugoslavia. He was freed in December, 1954. After the Kremlin's denunciation of Stalin-type dictatorship last February, Gomulka was "rehabilitated." When the Polish revolt broke, he was brought back as the Communist party leader.

Apparently Gomulka realized from the start the danger that the Polish revolt might turn like that in Hungary into an open and bloody rebellion against Communism itself.

The Poles are historically hot-headed. They hate Russia—Russia itself, not just Communist Russia—perhaps more bitterly than do any other people.

It is reported that Poland is still seething with unrest, partly in sympathy with the Hungarian rebels in their heroic fight.

Gomulka has appealed again and again to Poles to maintain discipline. He has warned that he will suppress any riots "for the good of our fatherland and the safety of our homes."

He has said that it depends on Poles themselves whether their country shall share the fate of Hungary.

That leaves Poland still under Communist rule. But Gomulka has the support of Cardinal Wyszynski, Roman Catholic Primate of Poland, in his appeal for law and order.

So Gomulka, once Poland's Little Stalin, has made himself Poland's Little Tito. Like Tito, Gomulka has been a Communist since his youth. But as Tito turned out to be a Yugoslav as well as Communist, Gomulka has turned out to be a Polish nationalist as well as a Communist.

As things stand, there seems to be a good chance that Poland may remain free of Russian domination.

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

"...of shoes—and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I HAVE been doing what Collier's says in its caption to the article: "Listening to Jack Benny."

Mr. Benny is not one of my favorites, although the fault may not be his. I have an illogical feeling about comedians, thinking as I do that they should create their own humor and not merely purvey other men's wit.

Show business would collapse if this practice were mandatory. But some comedians, Bob Hope and Danny Kaye for instance, give the impression that if the script didn't arrive they could make up the deficiency themselves. Mr. Benny doesn't.

Probably few comedians fashion their own stuff. When he was here last month young Stanley Baxter told me that while he wrote his old-fashioned sketch himself he couldn't invent all his material.

And as Mr. Benny says, being a comedian is a serious business. That will be why most professional comedians have glumish faces.

The comic art lies in putting things over, so it is unfair to subtract from a comedian because someone else supplies the comedy. Hand a copy of Hamlet or last week's Time magazine to two of your friends and ask them to declaim aloud. You will get the idea right away.

Jack Benny certainly knows his technique. His established reputation helps, of course. In citing that people laugh easily at a known purveyor of humor, he tells of Will Rogers arriving 20 minutes late to make a speech. The first thing he said, the literal prosaic truth, was "Well, I thought I'd never get here."

Everyone went into stitches, because subconsciously they knew they were supposed to laugh when Rogers spoke.

It is because of this that comedians stay in character on and off the stage. Professionally Jack Benny is like Harry Lauder was, a pincher of pennies, although the Collier's editor says he once sent a signed charity cheque in blank to Eddie Cantor with a note: "Eddie, you fill it in." If you stopped him in the street with a similar plea, however, he'd probably remind you that he drove an old Maxwell. The good works are done in secret.

Comedians sometimes carry their characteristics too far. A Victoria friend has told me of the time Harry Lauder spoke to a club in Winnipeg of which he was president. Lauder demanded he be piped into the room by two pipers. My friend, being of the same stubborn race as Lauder and thinking the idea absurd, told the comedian of a place to which he could go.

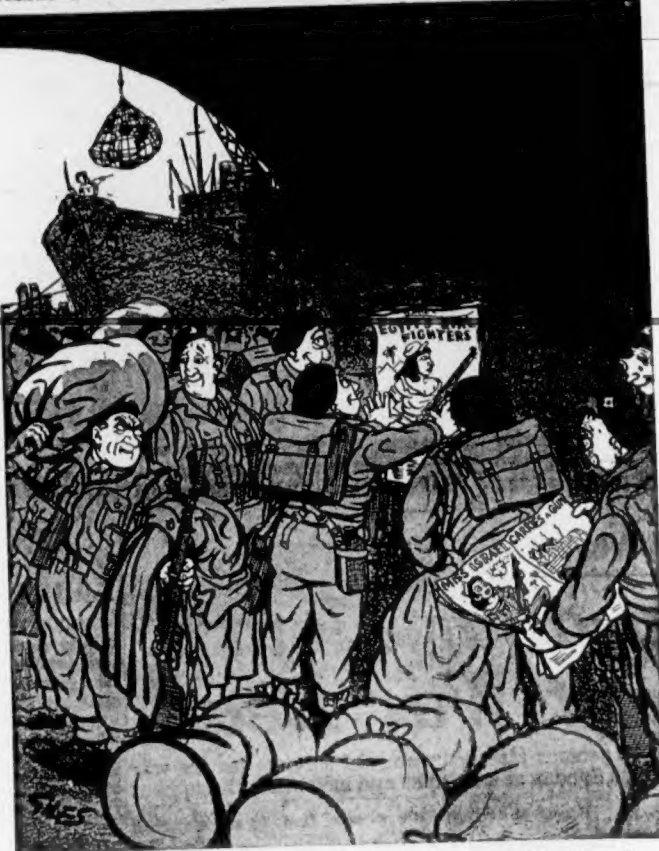

I gather there was quite a to-do for a few minutes.

Listening to Jack Benny, in his Collier's article, debunks his particular legend and reveals a kindly, modest man. He never thinks in advance that his show will be terrific; he only hopes it will. And if his joke writers are off form he doesn't berate them or sneer at their efforts.

"I don't think they could write all that day or the next if I did," he says.

That is so true, as well as being considerate. As a form of encouragement a pat on the back is far ahead of a kick somewhere else.

The next time I have a chance I'll make amend and listen to Mr. Benny's program.

"No one could convince my missus we were out there fighting them."

Grants With Strings

From The Printed Word

PROPOSED doubling of federal grants to Canadian universities, as announced by the prime minister in Sherbrooke, P.Q., and to a group of newspaper reporters in Ottawa, was welcomed by a number of university presidents who made statements to the press soon after the announcement was made. Apparently no one asked for statements from heads of economic departments or professors of constitutional law. Professors of ethics might also have something useful to contribute to the discussion, although ethics are not usually considered as relevant when a question of taking and distributing taxpayers' money is under discussion.

University presidents in these times are not primarily chosen for their scholarship, but rather for their ability as salesmen and money-raisers. Undoubtedly theirs is a useful, necessary function, for universities, like hospitals, suffer from a chronic shortage of funds. Part of their predicament is due to inflation, to the fact that their endowments, no matter how liberal they may have seemed when first made, no longer yield sufficient return to keep pace with mounting costs of everything the universities need to buy. The university presidents who view with enthusiasm the proposal of increased federal aid may therefore look on the payments as a form of conscience money from the chief promoter of inflation.

One may sympathize with the university presidents in their never-ending task of raising money and yet have some doubts about whether the easy solution of their problems, casting part of their burden on the shoulders of the federal taxpayer, is the best. A little more restraint in the enthusiasm might have been more seemly; a few doubts might have been voiced. Some of those who have not had the benefits of university training still recall the classical tag about fearing the Greeks even when they bring gifts, and university presidents might reasonably be expected to recall it also.

The walls of Troy, in the present instance, are represented by the constitutional provision that the provinces have reserved to them the field of education. Now the prime minister, who was one of Canada's leading constitutional lawyers before he went into politics, certainly knows all about the constitutional difficulties entailed in his proposal and has probably found a legally safe way of evading them. The propriety of such an evasion may not bother the head of a government committed to a policy of centralization, but it is a point for discussion by others.

The basis of distributing present federal grants to universities has been the population of the province in which they are situated and the enrolment of the universities. If the same basis is used in distribution of further grants, it would mean that the universities of McGill and Toronto, as the largest institutions in the most populous provinces, would receive the largest grants. It is true that they may have the greatest needs, but one cannot help thinking that the distribution resembles the shot-gun method of other welfare state payments.

The grants, it is said, would go to the institutions of higher education with no strings attached. In other words, the university financial authorities would be able to spend the money as they saw fit, and the chances are that much of it would go for buildings to enlarge the existing accommodations. There would be a great temptation to smaller universities to erect new buildings, if only to get a larger share of next year's grants because of increased enrolment.

But universities, when they build, resemble other non-profit institutions in forgetting that new buildings, although their original cost may be paid, represent a continuing expense for heating, repairs and janitor service, all of which items are more likely than not to rise in cost during the next few years.

It is not difficult to foresee that $16,000,000 a year will soon be found insufficient by the benefiting universities and that larger and larger grants will be demanded, as of right. With a precedent once established, the demands will be difficult to refuse; but, as the grants are increased, it will become more difficult to keep them unconditional. The federal government will have to attach some strings to them, and the principle of exclusive provincial rights in education will be relegated to the limbo where so many other principles have preceded it.

Reports from Ottawa

FATE has played a dirty trick on the men looking to lead the Conservative party.

The convention is only a month away, and what with events abroad these last two weeks there's no sign that any of them has got his campaign out of low gear yet.

They are putting their shows on the road now—but in a couple of weeks they're going to have to break off and attend a special session of Parliament. At $10,000 each per annum, that's their duty. And the reason for this special session is so important that they wouldn't dare jig to keep on with their itinerant speech-making even if they wanted to.

Normally a session at this juncture would be as welcome as a balmy day in January. The putative heirs of George Drew would be chortling at the chance to declaim on the nation's biggest political stage just before they put their leadership bids to the convention test.

But this won't be an ordinary session, or even an ordinary special session. It's being called solely to approve sending troops to Egypt to help the United Nations keep the peace. And the public might take a very jaundiced view of any effort to use Parliament under these circumstances as a forum to further personal political fortunes.

However, within the limits of good taste and good sense, no doubt each would-be leader will find room for a more or less brilliant analysis of the international situation and Canada's part therein. But there's apt to be scant sustenance in that kind of political hay.

The trick would be to make political capital without seeming to do so;

to find and exploit some flaw in the government's reasoning or actions that would have domestic political significance, and then to burst upon the convention with heightened prestige.

That indeed would be a neat trick, if it could be done.

What little the three main applicants for Drew's job have had to say on foreign affairs in the crisis period doesn't add up to anything very devastating for the government.

John Diefenbaker, the Tory foreign affairs critic, has complained that Prime Minister St. Laurent should have called Parliament into session immediately the Middle East crisis developed. He infers that Parliament was "by-passed." But that is a hoary old complaint of all oppositions.

Donald Fleming has regretted that Foreign Minister Pearson's proposal of an international police force for the Levant wasn't made sooner. St. Laurent has vigorously rejected this criticism, and the facts bear him out. The reason Pearson didn't broach his plan before the vote on the cease-fire resolution was taken in the UN Assembly was that he was stopped by closure on the debate.

Davie Fulton opined Canada should open its doors to refugee Hungarian patriots. Two days later Canada did. Fleming tends to defend British intervention in Egypt and infer the U.S. was wrong in opposing this action. But his chance at the leadership depends on his corraling solid support from Quebec, which might not welcome a 1956 version of Monsieur Fleming of Arthur Meighen's "Ready, aye ready."

The plain fact is that the government has steered such a careful course, and has reaped such praise from Britain, the U.S. and the Asian members of the Commonwealth, that the opposition will be hard put to make any strong criticism stick.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

STRYCHNINE is a poison that works almost instantly. But there are numerous other poisons that take effect so slowly and insidiously that often they are not even identified. This was the point made to me by an old-fashioned country doctor who occasionally calls me up on the long-distance and hawks his me out. At other times, we go fishing or rabbit hunting.

"These pills!" he shouted over the phone. "The newspapers and magazines are full of them, and my patients up here want to know why I don't keep abreast of all the marvels of modern science. It was only five years ago I quit prescribing calomel, followed by a liberal dose of salts. I am 'way behind the times.'"

"But," he shouted less formally, "I am not only leery of these new tranquillizing pills, I am leery of the famous wonder drugs, such as penicillin. How do we know what they'll do to a community over a period of 10, 20 years?"

"Well, what's this got to do with me?" I cut in.

"Keep that stuff about pills out of the papers!" demanded my cantankerous old friend. "What I figure is this. The city doctors will latch on to all the new wonder drugs, the fabulous new pills, and in due time, say 15, 20 years, the city population will all wither up like prunes, their ears will fall off, their eyes will sink in, they will yammer like goats and all vote Commie. Some few of them will flee to the country. But, all in all, your city populations, victims of experimental science, will wither up and collapse like weeds."

"Fortunately," he went on, in a lowered and almost academic tone, "we will have, in the rural regions of Canada, a reserve population in readiness to move into the cities and take over and carry on the business of the nation."

"What did you say about calomel?" I put in.

"Well, for centuries, anyway for as long as I have been in practice, calomel was a good old standby. Mercuric chloride. Fundamental. With a good dose of epsom salts next morning. Any time my patients were out of sorts, liverish, I gave 'em a couple of calomel triturates. Pills to you. Dose of salts next morning. Recently, my city colleagues decided we had been slowly poisoning the public for generations. They quit. I quit. So they switched to all these other pills."

"Well?"

"I'm off pills," shouted my old country practitioner. "From now on, just salts. And in about 15 years I'll lead the exodus from the country and take over your city."

Letters to the Editor

Britain Still Is 'Great'

I have read with much interest many of the letters regarding the recent actions of Great Britain in the Middle East. Some of the letters condemning Britain as an aggressor, savor of lack of balance and superficiality of thought—even of ignorance. They show forth a lack of proper appreciation and understanding of world affairs and of the Arab problem.

Personally I cannot help feeling that when the true facts, presently hidden, come to light as come they must sooner or later, those who now blame the Old Country will return to applaud. Let us not be misled by our present: Britain still portrays the designation "Great."

Our Commonwealth, being one great partnership of equals, no part being in subservience to another—a free people with one ideal and one Queen—must surely stick closely together in these continuing times of trial and crisis, for only thus under God is our Salvation.

Blind Self-Deception

The Soviet Union, which has long desired to control the Suez Canal and with it the Middle East, was quick to appreciate how Arab dissatisfaction could be turned to its advantage. British and French anxiety over Egyptian seizure of the canal was not caused by fear of an Egyptian closure. Even a cheap little demagogue like Nasser knew enough not to provoke international action which was bound to follow a deliberate act of sabotage. He also knew he could not make any money out of a blocked highway.

The prime ministers of Britain and France, whatever else one may think of them, are not stupid enough to imagine that they could use force to open the canal unless fully supported by the UN. Had Nasser been alone in his action the UN could have persuaded him to come to terms without trouble. Additional forces were moved to Cyprus because the Egyptian move was known to be part of Moscow's strategy. Had not the British and French moved when they did Russian "volunteers" would now be astride the canal in response to an appeal for help against the Israelis.

The Russians knew that continual Egyptian raids would force the Israelis to act. Had this happened the UN would have been as impotent in Egypt as they now find themselves in Hungary. The Russians now are directing the Egyptians to make conditions for occupation by a UN force so absurd that they hope the British and French will refuse to withdraw, thus giving them the excuse to intervene (with "volunteers" of course) that they have failed to find so far.

Does anyone seriously think that the latest war machines that Russia has been stockpiling in Egypt were to be used by the Egyptians? The Russians are realistic if nothing else. They know the Egyptians are not trained to use them properly for years to come, and even then their will to fight would make a mockery of the whole investment. The writing is not only on the wall; the deductions are simple. Perhaps they are too simple—certainly for people who have shown such an alarming capacity for blind self-satisfaction as many Canadians have. As a Canadian, born and bred, I am embittered and disgusted. I am also afraid for the future.

First Line of Defence

It is distressing to read of such views as expressed by a Mrs. Cordingley in Sunday's paper, advocating that Canada take a stand against Britain in the Middle East controversy. It should be clear that this is no war of aggression, but a valiant attempt to check Russia's ambition to dominate the world. The lady might remember that in two world wars Britain was our first line of defence. And Britain still is. The Suez Canal is known as Britain's life line, and is important to other countries also.

Equally reprehensible is W. J. Fraser's childish accusation that France and Britain acted selfishly to protect the shareholders in the Suez Canal Company. As Sir Anthony Eden reminded us, without oil Britain's industries could grind to a standstill and the people starve. And in our own selfish interests where would the market be for the raw materials we sell to the United Kingdom? If Canada has been more reluctant than the virile members of the Commonwealth, New Zealand and Australia, at least Mr. Pearson has speedily implemented an international police force which Britain had announced she would gladly see take over the job to stabilize peace and freedom. Good luck to our Queen's Own Rifles.

Solution: Peg Wages

The Colonist carried an editorial recently about inflation. Other papers and magazines have discussed it. But how futile seem the remedies suggested; especially an increased bank rate and credit restrictions. If a few firms did curb credit, we can imagine where the business would go.

There is an obvious solution, but to my knowledge no paper, nor magazine, nor government has dared to suggest it, though it must be in the minds of all thinking people: peg wages.

Then, even at the present ultra-fantastic levels, conditions would have a chance to settle down, especially exorbitant prices and taxes and some of us would be able to indulge in an occasional steak or chop, or even buy a cake or a bottle of milk.

And think of the relief to us all in no longer reading about the annual wage demands of workers.

EDGAR SMITH.

'We Recoil in Horror'

It is with a feeling of profound relief that we see the diplomacy of Mr. L. B. Pearson being accepted by the UN Council as a means of cutting Nasser of Egypt down to size and at the same time frustrating the schemes of the totalitarian gang in Moscow.

The rape of Hungary is so ghastly that we in the free world recoil in horror from Russian bestiality. Had the Russian plan of using Nasser as a stooge succeeded, the stark fact of Kremlin duplicity would now confront us from a position of strength across the Suez Canal, and in control of the oil lifeline of Britain.

The British Labor Party criticized Eden for using force against Nasser. Had they been in power and faced with the unavoidable duty of making the decision, would they have acted any differently? The leaders of the Labor Party in Britain know full well that Russia hates their political philosophy and considers social democracy the real foe of communism. The brutal murders in Hungary have created a situation in the politburo which can only be handled by the well-known methods of all dictators who lay the blame on foreign spies and imperial agents.

To the apologists of Russian behavior this is hard to take, but the sense of historical truth will jolt them out of their dream world where Russia can do no wrong; the Soviet Union has done everything in the book to disenchant its believers. Witness the shootings, hangings, and attempted extermination of the workers in Hungary; if, as their prophet Lenin says, religion is the opiate of the people, then Russia has become the opiate of its followers.

Land of Vipers

May I comment at this late hour on Halloween, being a victim. A three-pronged, tough signboard, wired and nailed on, was broken in half and doubled up, and another one sticky with tar was evidently dumped. A Saanich policeman, checking up, told me there were over 400 complaints. There was a 19-year-old boy caught, of a gang, who was carrying a large box of bombs made with sticks of dynamite, bottles and fuses, who were going to blow up a duck farm to let the water out. Another victim was an old man who had spent a lot of time and hard-to-get funds on beautifying his place with a 30-foot picket fence, which he had just painted. It was entirely wrecked and smashed to kindling. This policeman's own seven-year-old daughter had been cuffed beside the car, badly affecting her eardrum, because she was a policeman's daughter.

"It is only a small per cent who act like this," I said. "By no means; they move around in gangs as high as 50, and we had 40 extra men and still couldn't cope with it," he replied.

A neighbor with five teenagers said the parents should be held responsible. He was very mad about the whole thing, as everybody is, and said Halloween should be outlawed to everyone over eight. Halloween is dreaded, is an excuse and breeding ground for sin and wickedness and is turning this generation into a land of vipers.

Hospital or Sport?

At the present time thought is being given as to the best method of establishing a permanent memorial to mark the centenary of the province in 1958. Suggestion has been made that an addition to the Arena to enlarge its scope of usefulness to another class of sport would make a fitting memorial—a very fine objective, but this would cater to a small percentage of the population of the Greater Victoria area.

A new wing to the Royal Jubilee Hospital is a dire necessity at the present time, and will be a compelling factor in the near future. Why not deal with this question now? To my knowledge patients have had to wait a week or 10 days for admission recently. With an increasing population at the present rate, what is the situation going to be in two years?

Is it going to be sport for the minority, or health and life for the many who need and are paying, through the sales tax, for this service?

It should be remembered that the year 1958 is the centenary of Royal Jubilee Hospital, which was founded by Bishop Cridge in 1858.

Lights Are Going Out

In Britain the Americans have the only reliable overseas ally they possess, but due to the anti-British prejudice provided by the American schools and historians they are calmly sitting on the fence watching that ally go down the drain. If the English-speaking world could form a united front in the troubled days ahead they could largely control the course of events. With a population of 250,000,000 having the highest standards of living in the world and over half the industrial strength of this planet, they could not be ignored by any of the dictators dreaming of world conquest.

That democracy is taking root where Britain formerly maintained law, order and justice is completely false. The void that follows her departure is invariably filled by one of the various brands of dictators. Democracy is a tender plant of very recent growth and if the Americans are returning to isolationism the lights are going out on the most promising experiment the earth has yet seen.

Both Britain and Europe are seriously infected with left-wing thinking and without the support of the strongest capitalist society in the world will sooner or later fall into the orbit of the Communist dictators. The trade unions and those who believe in obtaining decisions by counting noses will be wiped out as Stalin and Hitler wiped them out.

With the old world in the hands of the preachers of revolt, the generals, prelates and landlords who presently hold power in Latin America will go down like ninpins. The North Americans will then be barricaded in isolation on this continent facing a hostile world. It is later than we think.

Russian Marshal Out As Polish Defence Chief

WARSAW (Reuters) — Soviet Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky has resigned as Polish defence minister. Prime Minister Jozef Cyrankiewicz told the Polish parliament (Sejm) Tuesday night.

Rokossovsky, 59, Polish-born Soviet general and a hero of the second world war, has generally been regarded as the Kremlin's "overlord" in Poland since 1949.

Rokossovsky is succeeded as defence minister by Gen. Marian Spychalski, close associate of Wladyslaw Gomulka, the "Titoist" leader who recently was elected Poland's Communist party chief.

DRAMATIC MEETING

Rokossovsky's "resignation" followed his ousting from the politburo of the Polish Communist party on Oct. 21 following a dramatic weekend meeting of the central committee of the Polish United Workers (Communist) party which at the same time ousted Gomulka in the key party post.

(In London, observers of Soviet affairs said the ousting of Rokossovsky as defence minister had clearly been one aim of the Gomulka leadership in Poland. But they added the fact that

Work on a top-priority hydro-electric project to provide power for the booming Alberni Valley is expected to start early next spring, with completion set for the fall of 1958.

Details of the B.C. Power Commission's $10,000,000 Ash River development were released yesterday.

The development will produce 35,000 horsepower at first.

Later the commission plans three developments producing a combined output of 87,500 horsepower on the Ash, Stamp and Sprout rivers.

Surveys will be undertaken soon on the second and third stages of the development to see if the fisheries problem can be overcome.

Meanwhile, all necessary green lights have been given to the public-owned utility to start work on the first stage of the development.

A five-mile tunnel and pipeline will bring water from Elsie Lake to a powerhouse on the north side of Great Central Lake. The level of Elsie Lake, which has no migratory salmon problems, will be raised about 50 feet by the dam.

The commission does not propose to interfere with any of the amenities of Sprout Lake. High and low water levels will be maintained as near as possible to the natural seasonal levels.

With 19 per cent of the province's population but only 4 per cent of its hydro resources, Vancouver Island's power outlook is dark.

Full development of the Alberni project will help ease the situation.

Youth Has Record

Nanaimo Break-Ins Draw Term in Jail

NANAIMO — Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts handed down a nine-months jail sentence to a 19-year-old youth yesterday. Clarence Thompson pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft from Brechin bowling alley, the Canadian Legion and Chase River garage.

He had a similar conviction in Saskatchewan in 1954 and two other convictions for assault, one against a police officer.

A former Duncan boy, 17-year-old Peter Lorne Smirle, now living in Cloverdale, B.C., was "given a chance" in view of his parents "going to bat" for him and his previous clean record, and was given suspended sentences for two years. He also faced breaking charges. A 16-year-old Nanaimo boy who appeared in juvenile court was placed on 18 months probation for his part in the break-ins.

Another youth, Stanley Robert Lavigne, arrested for possession of stolen property related to the thefts, was fined $125 or 60 days imprisonment. Three others, who had admitted burglary charges, came up for sentence tomorrow.

Profit of Australian Federal Railways reached a record, for peacetime, of $2,086,550 in 1956.

Backache is often caused by faulty kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. HMCS MAGNIFICENT

Storm-Swept Maggie Rushes into Huge Job

HALIFAX (CP)—The storm-battered aircraft carrier Magnificent hustled from stern to stern Tuesday night as preparations went ahead for a quick sailing to the Middle East with Canadian troops for the United Nations police force.

CAPODICHINO, Italy (CP)—Canadians today joined the fast-assembling UN police force. Vanguard of the Canadian detachment—nine officers and 12 infantrymen—landed here aboard an RCAF Constellation at 7:30 a.m.

The carrier docked here 14 hours earlier than expected after a full steam-ahead battle with storms in the Atlantic.

Her commander, Capt. A. B. Fraser-Harris, said the big flat-top was slightly damaged in a stormy crossing from Scotland. She left Greenock, near Glasgow, last Thursday.

Forty-foot waves swept away safety nets on both sides of the flight deck, washed off a dinghy, and damaged two other boats and the ship's cable lockers.

WILL BEAT DEADLINE "It's damage that can be repaired in two days," Capt. Fraser-Harris said.

He said the navy expects to beat the deadline of Nov. 21 for her departure with troops of the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

Minutes after her arrival at 7:50 p.m. AST naval and civilian crews swarmed aboard to transform her into a troop carrier and floating headquarters for the troops in the Suez area.

Capt. Fraser-Harris said the ship "played tag with the storms and we were able to maintain our maximum speed all the way across."

"We left Greenock last Thursday, slipped into a full gale, ran out of it Saturday, ran back into another one Sunday, out of that one, then back into another one in which we had to knock off 50-foot waves."

"I give the old lady full chips. When news reached the ship that the Magnificent would be sent to the Middle East 'the crew was mad keen about it.'"

"As a matter of fact, those who are being drafted off the ship are trying hard to stay on."

About 50 per cent of the carrier's normal 1,100-man crew will be drafted off before the departure.

"I'm delighted and couldn't be more happy," he said of the ship's new assignment. "Magnificent will really be doing her stuff now."

Engineers Also Go

Big Send Off Given QORs

Nearly 20 more members of the 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, flew from Patricia Bay yesterday to join their 222 companions who left here by boat Sunday on the first lap of their journey to the Middle East.

Six Royal Canadian Engineers from 3rd Field Squadron at Work Point caught the Monday midnight boat to join 38 others from Chilliwack army base who are heading for the Suez.

The QOR group was flown to Calgary to join the first battalion, which is already being airlifted to Halifax.

A QOR medical health officer, Capt. Victor McPherson, 3227 Rutledge, is being detached from his unit and joining the United Nations police force at its base camp in Naples, Italy. Capt. McPherson, originally from White Rock, B.C., was an interne at Royal Jubilee Hospital here before joining the army medical corps.

A crowd of nearly 2,000 gathered at the CPR dock in the afternoon to see the soldiers leave on the steamer Princess Elizabeth.

As the ship moved from her berth, the pipes and drums of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) piped the unit away.

Mail should be sent: Regimental number, soldiers name, Unit, CAPO 5049, Canadian Armed Forces in Europe.

QOR Airlift Develops No Hitches

CALGARY (CP)—The airlift of members of the Queen's Own Rifles from Calgary to Halifax is proceeding "without a hitch," says Capt. Herb Pitts of Castlebar, B.C., QOR 1st Battalion adjutant.

Eight flights, carrying 50 men in each, has been dispatched from McCall Field by 5 p.m. Tuesday. Snow failed to interfere with the operation and all planes, taking off at three-hour intervals, were on schedule.

The first plane, which left Calgary at 8 p.m. Monday, set down in Halifax at noon Tuesday.

To date, no one has missed the flight on which he was booked. "We don't expect any men to report late, either," said Capt. Pitts. "They're all too anxious to go."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

$100,000,000 Program

St. Laurent Announces Huge Culture Aid Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government proposes to launch a $100,000,000 aid-to-culture program early next year, a move hailed by university presidents as a historic fulfilment of a great dream.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a 7,000-word, hour-long address, announced these details.

1. Parliament will be asked at the next regular session, reported to open in January, to create the long-awaited Canada Council and to arm it with $100,000,000 in federal funds to aid Canadian culture.

INDEPENDENT OPERATION
2. The council, to operate independently of the government and Parliament, would get $50,000,000 as an endowment, Revenue from this investment would be used for cultural purposes.

3. Parliament also will be asked to double federal grants to universities to $16,000,000 a year from $8,000,000. The National Conference of Canadian Universities is to take over distribution of the funds. Grants are to be kept in trust for those universities which currently feel they cannot accept the money.

4. Canada's national museum is to be split, to create two national museums, one to concentrate on natural history and the other on human history. Both are to be concentrated in this capital. Exhibits will be made available for cross-country travel. Officials said later this project may take some years to complete.

FOLLOWS REPORT
This sweeping program, incorporating the main recommendations of the 1951 Massey commission report, was outlined before university heads gathered at a NCCU meeting dealing with the Canadian crisis in higher education.

Mr. St. Laurent's remarks received prolonged applause. Dr. G. E. Hall, NCCU president and head of the University of Western Ontario, said he is sure the Canada Council proposal will get the wholehearted support of every Canadian.

"It is something we dreamed of, longed for and needed," he said.
The $100,000,000 which Mr. St. Laurent proposes to give the Canada Council would come out of the next federal budget. This may be one way of whittling down a large federal surplus without increasing the spending power in the hands of taxpayers at a time of inflation.

'Squandering Our Youth,' University Leaders Told

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's universities, which now teach about seven per cent of Canadian young people, were challenged Tuesday with the statement that between 25 and 30 per cent of students could benefit from higher education.

Dr. Jackson spoke in the second day of a conference on "Canada's crisis in higher education" sponsored by the 35-member National Conference of Canadian Universities. The day's forum discussions centred on the problems of gifted children who don't go to university, the failures and mistakes among university students.

"We seem to be doing an admirable job of squandering the price-less human resources available to us," said Dr. R. B. W. Jackson of the Ontario College of Education, Toronto.

In a speech to top officials from nearly all of Canada's universities, he asked whether universities really want all gifted young people to continue to higher education.

"I sense there is a feeling in some cases that you don't want them to go on," he said. Some universities apparently wanted to restrict enrolments.

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Conference of Canadian Universities agreed Tuesday to take on the job of distributing federal grants to universities, which the government proposes to double next year from $8,000,000 to $16,000,000.

The decision was made by the executive of the 35-member NCCU, which represents nearly all of Canada's university-level schools.

Near Suicide Under Reds, Dr. Otto John Testifies

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—Dr. Otto John testified yesterday that he was "several times on the verge of committing suicide" during the 17 months he stayed behind the Iron Curtain.

The former West German intelligence chief told the Court trying him on treason charges that only by pretending to co-operate with the Communists could he have hoped to get back to the West.

"Had I refused, they would have robbed me of my free will and I might have betrayed everything," John said. "But in my very heart, I never surrendered to them or else I would not be here."

John is accused of leaking state secrets and denouncing agents of his office after crossing into East Berlin July 20, 1954. He returned last December to surrender to West German authorities.

The presiding judge and the prosecution yesterday tried to shatter John's claim that he was drugged with doctored coffee and then abducted to Soviet headquarters in East Berlin.

He was asked repeatedly why he did not disclose that he was being coerced when he was presented to Western journalists at a Communist-sponsored press conference in East Berlin three weeks after he crossed over. At that time, John said he had defected to work for peace and against a Nazi revival.

"Why did you not seize this chance," asked the judge.

"If I had done this, the Russians would have had a reason to take me up for 20 years," John answered.

Federal Aid Plan 'All Wrong'

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta said Tuesday the principle of the federal government's approach to services which come within provincial jurisdiction is "entirely wrong."

"The federal government is moving into all kinds of social service and health and welfare fields where they don't belong at their jurisdiction."

"We have always taken the position that the federal government should make a fair and equitable division of public revenues to the provinces so that cultural and educational purposes can discharge fully their responsibilities."

The money would be handled by the Canada Council, independent of Parliament and the federal government. It would get $50,000,000 as an endowment, revenue from this investment to be used in cultural work. Another $50,000,000 would be used over a 10-year period as grants for universities, buildings and equipment.

Do you find that rheumatic pains are sometimes almost unbearable? Do you long for relief as did Mrs. Denise Godin of 1240 Berri St., Montreal, P.Q.? Her first stop—the bank

When Mrs. Wilson planned to go shopping, her husband Tom said: "Meet you at the bank." It was a natural thing to say, for going to the bank is just a part of everyday life.

In the bank, Mrs. Wilson noticed Miss Ellis the schoolteacher ... Mr. Cooper the storekeeper ... and her neighbour's son Bobby, adding to his savings account.

When Tom arrived, he grinned: "Seems like everybody goes to the bank." It's true. Canadians find the chartered banks such a safe and handy place to keep money that practically everybody has a bank account. There are now more than 10 million deposit accounts in the chartered banks—more accounts than there are adults in the country.

Esks Hope Jinx Works In Grid Final Saturday

EDMONTON — Edmonton Eskimos are hoping that an old jinx will be working for them when they meet Saskatchewan Roughriders on Saturday night in the final game of the best-of-three Western Inter-Provincial Football Union final.

For the first four seasons after the WIFU adopted the present playoff system instead of the two-game, total-point final, the club which won the first game lost the next two. Eskimos changed it themselves. In 1955, they won the first and third games against Winnipeg. Last year, they won in two straight. But now, as they get ready for the all-out attempt to make it three Grey Cup finals in a row, they are hoping the old first-game jinx returns.

Edmonton squared the series on Monday when they won, 20-12, in a bruising game which featured the brilliant play of Jackie Parker, this time as a halfback. Injuries to Earl Lindley out for the season with a dislocated shoulder, and Con Kelly and Don Simon left Eskimos short of halfbacks. Coach Frank Ivy gambled a bit by using his Canadian quarterback, Dave Getty, and placing Parker at halfback. Parker responded with a great game to spark his club while Getty did an adequate job after a mediocre first half. However, Eskimos are not likely to be in the best of health for Saturday's decider. Whether Kelly and/or Simon will be back is problematical and back Oase Kruger, tackle Roger Nelson and end Joe Mobra are also nursing hurts of one kind or another. But they will almost certainly be in action.

Riders apparently came out of the game without serious injury, but they were a tired club. However, the Saskatchewan club was playing its fourth playoff game in 10 days and the rest will be even more beneficial than to Eskimos, a comparatively fresh club.

Parker, who played for a few minutes at quarterback, saw almost 60 minutes of action Monday and was as brilliant on defense as he was in passing the ball.

He intercepted two passes, knocked down a few others as Eskimos used him. Ronnie Miles and Johnny Bright on defense took down Frank Trippeka who could only complete seven of 23 passes.

In addition Parker carried the ball nine times for more than 100 yards, including a 42-yard jaunt which set up a two-yard touchdown plunge by Bright, kicked a single point and caught one of the two passes completed by Getty.

A fumble by Normie Kwong set the stage for the first touchdown, making it a gloomy situation for the 10,000 fans. Larry Ishell hit Stan Williams with a 32-yard pass, then Bobby Marlow dragged a couple of Eskimos with him as he battered the last 10 yards.

That one came late in the second quarter and Eskimos tied it in the third on Parker's kick for a single point and his interception which set up a 46-yard touchdown march Kwong went the last 12 yards.

Parker's long run early in the fourth quarter left Bright needing only two yards and Eskimos went ahead 13-6.

Then Parker intercepted again, just after the kick-off, and Art Walker booted a single to make it 11-6. Kwong followed with a 51-yard run, Miles went nine yards, Bright three and Getty five for Eskimos' third touchdown to make it safe at 20-6.

Riders struck back in the three minutes, going all the way from their one-yard line with Rod Pantaces and Marlow packing the ball and Trippeka hitting Harry Lampman with his pass. Lampman scored on a four-yard pass.

Canucks Win Game but Lose McLeod; Amerks Outplay Flyers, Lose Anyhow

Seattle Americans and Vancouver Canucks started their first invasion of the Prairie half of the Western Hockey League last night, but it made no difference to Canucks, who had the advantage of starting against admittedly weaker opposition. They made it seven in a row by knocking off the Warriors, 4-1, at Winnipeg on a record of 2-8-02.

Americans found things different at Edmonton, where 2,737 fans saw the Flyers take a 6-4 decision.

Results left Canucks only four points behind Seattle, Western Division leaders, and moved Flyers within two points of Brandon Regals, Eastern Division pace-setters.

Dodgers End Tour of Japan Impressed with Opposition

Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday completed their Japanese tour thoroughly convinced that Japanese baseball is a lot better than most people have realized. Dodgers wound up with 14 wins and a tie in the 19 games but they had to battle in many of the games they won and the four Japanese victories were quite a lift for baseball in Japan.

Jackie Robinson told a Japanese high school audience that the Japanese all-star club was the equal of any Triple-A club in the U.S. The All-Stars won three of nine games played against the Dodgers.

In the last game, played yesterday, Fred Klipp, a rookie southpaw who was a standout on the tour, beat the Japanese Pacific League All-Stars, 3-1, as hits by Robinson and rookie Don

Tension Continues to Rise At Stormy Olympic Village

While officials of the Melbourne Olympics pleaded with athletes from all parts of the world to forget the current Middle East crisis and members of the Hungarian team again demonstrated in Melbourne's Olympic Village.

A group of impetuous Hungarians hauled down the Communist Hungarian flag at the entrance to the Village Monday, cut out the Communist emblem with a pocket-knife, and raised a homemade nationalist banner with ringing cries of "Down with Communist flag" and "Long live free Hungary."

The action set off another tempestuous day at Melbourne. The climax was reached when a cheering, banquet-tossing crowd of more than 2,000 gathered at Melbourne's airport to greet a planeload of 50 athletes and officials from Hungary.

Julius Hegyi, white-haired Hungarian sports minister, said that Hungary will definitely not compete in the Olympic Games under the Communist flag. All members of the team arrived with Communist insignia removed from their badges.

Hegyi said there are no political differences on the team, all members are "fine patriots" and would return home after the games. However, he added that Hungarian athletes can stay in the Hungarian situation again overshadowed developments at Olympic Village, where tension rose among the hundreds of athletes and a strict check of all visitors and reporters was made to ensure credentials were in order.

Matthews on Spot

Record Fee Placed On English Goalie

LONDON (CP) — Coventry City has placed a £25,000 price tag on Reg Matthews, the 23-year-old England goalkeeper.

The transfer fee was set by club directors after repeated requests from Matthews that he be allowed a chance to join a First Division club.

However, the high fee—more than double the all-time top price for a goalkeeper—appears to have scared off two interested clubs.

Chelsea manager Ted Drake, who had said his club "badly needed" the brilliant young net minder, declined to comment on the Coventry figure. Sheffield Wednesday, which had also expressed keen interest, said "We're not interested."

The all-time high for a goalkeeper is the £11,000 Manchester United paid to Queen's Park Rangers for Reg Allen in 1950.

The record fee for any player is the £34,000 Sheffield Wednesday laid out in 1951 to bring in inside left Jackie Sewell from Nottingham County.

Sawchuk's Return to Old Form Big Reason for Bruins' Surge

Terry Sawchuk, who was rookie of the year in the United States, American and National Hockey Leagues and then all-star NHL goalie for three seasons in a row—the 1947-48 and 1952-53 seasons—is back in old-time form and Boston Bruins, as a result, are leading the NHL.

The 26-year-old veteran, who made the second all-star clubs in the 1953-54 and 1954-55 seasons and was passed up last season stopped 109 out of 115 shots in four games last week.

Bruins won them all, extending their win streak to six games and putting them keeping them in first place.

Sunday night at Boston, Sawchuk stopped 10 shots in each

Lions Lose First; Giants Take Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Washington Redskins put an end to Detroit's unbeaten reign in the National Football League Sunday with an 18-17 thriller that set up a first-place tie in the Western Conference.

New York Giants took full possession of the eastern league by trimming Chicago Cardinals 23-10.

Five points in the final period on a safety and Sam Baker's third field goal of the game, a clinching 27-yard boot in the final two minutes, stopped Lions. With the defeat Detroit tumbled to a tie with Chicago Bears, who maulled Green Bay Packers 38-14. The outsiders have 61 records.

Giants won their fifth in a row for a 6-1 record while wrapping up Cardinals' whirlwind place in the western division with a 2-17 victory over the still-undefeated Cleveland Browns. Los Angeles escaped at the annual Hibbard Cup game between the two service clubs in the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League.

It marked the first time in the history of the competition that Venture has won the trophy and the loss was the first one suffered by the Royal Roads squad in local play this season. Halfback Derek Hood led the Venture attack, scoring three touchdowns, all on passes from

Woman Started Acid Attack Says Accused

Vancouver, B.C. (The Daily Colonist) — Mrs. Helen Orsolt, 42, today said she had started an acid attack on her husband, John Orsolt, 41, last Tuesday, in order to protect her from him for attacking her in the same manner.

The incident occurred after Mrs. Orsolt won $140,000 in the Irish sweepstakes on a ticket bought for her by Bahleb. The accused said she had tried to put him out of the house where they had been living.

When Orsolt, 41, was charged with assault on his wife, he pleaded not guilty. He was held in custody and a bail of $10,000 was set. He was released on bail and is now in the custody of his lawyer.

Dusty Old Sky May Soak You Soon

WASHINGTON (M.A.N.) — No matter where you are, you are bound to be rained on this month because the sky is dirty.

Dust in space may make rain according to Dr. J. C. Bowman, president of the American Meteorological Society. Research Corporation. And November is one of the worst months for rain.

Until recently, this puzzled Dr. Bowman.

He thought that meteoric particles, falling into clouds, account for formation of raindrops. About 10 times a year, the earth passes through great clouds of these particles.

Some of the particles are the size of grains of sand or a little larger. These are burned by the friction of the earth's atmosphere and appear to us as shooting stars.

But countless billions of smaller particles settle slowly into cloud formations of the lower atmosphere. They are there from 30 to 40 days to fall.

And rainfall peaks the world over occur with some regularity about a month after each passage of the earth through the cosmic dust cloud, Dr. Bowman said in a report to Nature, official organ of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

The only exception was November this month, but it was not known just the earth had passed through the meteoric dust in proper time to account for the rain.

Now says Dr. Bowman, large accumulations of meteoric particles have been discovered in the skies of the southern hemisphere at about the right time to cause the traditional grey and cloudy weather.

False Teeth Need A Special Cleanser

Don't Brush Your Plates! Soak Them in Polident As Dentists Suggest

Polident is the recommended way to clean dentures. It's the best way to keep them clean and healthy.

1. Never use a brush on them! You can scratch the surface and ruin the fit. Polident cleans without a brush.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can dry out the denture material and cause it to crack. Polident keeps them moist and healthy.

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only. Polident is the best. It's the only one that cleans without a brush.

Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug store.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther
Recent forced resignation of Pat Weaver from the chair at NBC is expected to reduce the number of speculators on that broadcasting network.

It was a happy occasion for the general public when the network announced that it had hired a new president. The new president, however, was not a speculator. He was a man who had been in the business for many years and had a good reputation.

Walter Helen Deutsch, the real star of the show, changed the direction of the network. He came off with some big hits, but he also had some big misses. He was a man who was not afraid to take risks.

WEEKEND REVIEW: Is there anything better on TV than Saturday's Saturday Night Show? The show is a great mix of comedy and drama. It is a show that is not afraid to take risks.

Today's Best
Dinner table begins with "Smoke Jumpers" at 7:30. The show is a great mix of comedy and drama. It is a show that is not afraid to take risks.

Sink By-Law Delay Backed

A three-year delay in enforcement of the city by-law requirement that every housekeeping room have a sink with hot and cold water was endorsed yesterday by the Victoria-Esquamit Union Board of Health.

The delay, proposed by Mayor Percy Scurrell after consultation with sanitation and building officials, is expected to be approved by council at its next meeting.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH With Little Worry

Fat, salt, laugh or stress without fear of insecure false teeth dropping, slipping or wobbling. FASTEETH holds plates firmly and more comfortably. This pleasant powder has no gummy, sooty, sticky taste or feeling. Doesn't cause rashes. It's alkaline (non-acid). Checks plate color (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

The chief sanitary inspector recently asked housekeeping room owners to comply with the requirement within six months, and the mayor made the compromise proposal after owners protested. Immediate installation of sinks will still be required where the medical health officer deems the need urgent, or when housekeeping-room establishments change hands or are newly established.

Since most Canadian brides are a few years younger than their husbands and since, in Canada, the woman is likely to spend the six loneliest and most vulnerable years of her life as a "fixed income" widow—special study and planning are imperative now for her protection against financial worries in the future.

For more than sixty-six years Montreal Trust Company has been helping people to plan for the future. A telephone call will arrange an appointment.

Camp Value
Up Sixfold

Summer camp at Nanose Bay of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Vancouver Island now is valued at $46,000, more than six times the original investment in 1950, it was disclosed at the annual meeting during the week end.

Payments for $6,000 worth of new construction this year remain to be met. The executive decided to canvass assembly members and ask any others who wish to contribute to send donations to Mrs. F. M. Vincent, 1044 Wollaston.

Rev. Einar Domeij, Nanaimo, was re-elected president and Rev. Harold Pendray, Ladysmith, was chosen vice-president. Mrs. Vincent was returned as secretary-treasurer and Ray Whellams, Victoria, was named lay delegate.

During July, the camp set two records—268 boys and girls attended the two seven-day junior sessions and 81 young people registered at the one-week teenage camp. Some 500 persons later went to family camps and all camp expenses were paid in full.

B.C. Industrial Wage Jumps To New Record of $70.74

Work Week Drops
To 41.34 Hours

Average industrial wages for B.C. male workers during 1955 hit a new high of $70.74, an increase of $1.77 a week more than the previous record of $68.70 set in 1954, according to the annual report of the provincial labor department just released.

The Canadian average in 1955 was $59.25 a week.

The greatest single increase in payroll totals was seen in the construction industry which recovered from the recession during the previous year to show a gain of more than $18,000,000 during 1955.

The report shows that average weekly wages have jumped by more than $30 since 1945.

Payrolls in the Greater Victoria area during 1955 totalled $50,163,395.

August was the month of peak employment, rising to a new high of 205,195 industrial workers employed compared with 190,555 for the same month in 1954.

The industrial work week hit a new low with the average number of hours worked by all male wage earners at 41.34, a fraction below the figure of 41.37 of the previous year.

RECORD HEIGHTS
Increasing demand for basic materials pushed production levels to record heights in most industries.

Population of the province continued to increase rapidly and the need for residential housing, schools, hospitals and commercial buildings created new records in construction.

In the field of industrial construction, the start of many large-scale engineering projects, the continuing development of power resources, and an extensive highway program contributed largely to full employment and expanding payrolls during the year.

The forest industries continued a further series of "spectacular advances" with both primary and secondary phases of the industry recording marked increases in payrolls and production figures compared with the 1954 totals.
